

SPINNER ATLANTA AND HUTTON COMMUNICATIONS SIGN DISTRIBUTION AGREEMENT

NORCROSS, GA – November 24, 2009 – Spinner Atlanta has named Hutton Communications as a distributor for its passive RF systems and components serving the mobile communication markets in North America, Central America and South America. One of the largest distributors of wireless solutions on the continent, Hutton has a wide-ranging network of 15,000 resellers.

“The increased need from wireless carriers for higher quality RF products to improve tower top reliability, enhance coverage, and improve cell reception will drive demand for low VSWR and low PIM products” said Jim York, director of sales and marketing for Spinner Atlanta. “The growing demand for high quality passive RF equipment makes the agreement between Spinner Atlanta and Hutton Communications an important step in helping serve the mobile communication industry.”

Spinner Atlanta has a full functioning manufacturing facility in Norcross, Georgia making the complete line of passive RF components to strict German quality standards. Spinner’s global resources and global manufacturing coupled with its North American manufacturing facility, improves the service, value, and delivery to the end customer for any volume of business.

“We are extremely proud to have Hutton as one of our distributors” said Jim York. “Their leadership as one of the top distributors in the wireless market will increase our presences throughout North America.”
